Introduction to new resources for the JF Japanese Scheme of Work for Key Stage 2

1st August 2014 14:00 – 17:00 | Venue: Japan Foundation London | Fee: Free

This event will introduce new resources that can be used alongside the Japan Foundation's Japanese Scheme of Work for Key Stage 2. This will help give teachers of Japanese everything they need to start teaching primary level Japanese from September.

In this free workshop, primary school teachers at all levels of Japanese proficiency will find out about these new materials and how to use them to inspire their pupils. The resources follow the Japan Foundation Japanese Scheme of Work for Primary Schools, which is packed full of lesson plans, resources and exciting and fun ideas for teaching primary-level Japanese to Year 3 pupils. These teaching materials have been created by the Japan Foundation's Chief Language Advisor Dr Seiji Fukushima, and have been tested with two classes of Year 3 pupils at Southfield Primary School. Participants will additionally have access to exclusive draft versions of the resources, and Dr Fukushima will give explanations about how he has used them, and how they might be adapted for other primary Japanese classes. The resources themselves include worksheets, plans, activities, games etc.

Dr Seiji Fukushima started his career as a Japanese teacher in Mexico in 1994. He has also worked at Tashkent State Institute of Oriental Studies in Uzbekistan (1997-2000), Novosibirsk State University in Russia (2000-2001), the Uzbekistan-Japan Center for Human Development (2003-2006), and the Japan Foundation Budapest in Hungary (2007-2010). He currently works as the Chief Japanese Language Advisor for the Japan Foundation London, and has been trialling the JFL Japanese Scheme of Work for Key Stage 2 with two Year 3 classes at Southfield Primary School near Hammersmith.
